All the money raised will go towards improving the lives of children in the UK. To find out how you can help Children In Need, go to www.bbc.co.uk/pudsey.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR WEEPING ANGEL! It's easy!

1 Press out the pieces of the Angel that came with the magazine.

2 Use PVA glue to stick the front and back of each arm together.

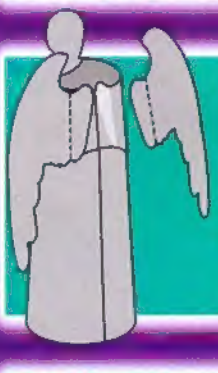
3 Do the same with the front and back of the head.

4 Glue the front and back of each wing together, leaving an exposed white flap on each one.

5 Glue the upper body to the skirt, then leave it to dry.

6 When the body and skirt assembly is dry, bend it into a tube and glue it together at the back.

7 Fold back the wing flaps and glue them in place on the Angel's back.



8 Glue the arms into place, with the straighter arm on the Angel's right.

9 Fold along the dotted line on the forearms and press the hands upright. Curl the fingers down for extra creepiness!

10 Finally, place the Angel on top of your Christmas tree – and remember not to blink!

ONLY IN DOCTOR WHO ADVENTURES

THE DOCTOR AND LILY

Merry Chrimbo, Matt! We're excited about watching the Christmas special!

Thanks! I'm excited for you to see it. There's something really magical about this episode. It was such fun to film.

Did you enjoy working with the cast?

Oh yes, that's one of my favourite bits. I think it's really exciting that the main characters are children. It's very important to see the world of Doctor Who from a kids' perspective, and this Christmas episode really does that. The best people that I meet who watch the show are kids.

"THE BEST PEOPLE I MEET WHO WATCH THE SHOW ARE KIDS!"

Why is that?

They've just got their opinion about the Doctor and that's it. It's just about the show and the character and it's really honest and truthful. I love kids.

THE ARWELL FAMILY

What were Maurice and Holly (Cyril and Lily) like?

They are such good kids. They're nice people. They're well-prepared, they're taking risks – I think we could watch Maurice for the whole episode. He's wonderful on camera.

CYRIL

Did you all have fun together?

When I'm playing the Doctor, sometimes my energy can mix over into the character, and the character into me. I could be a bit ridiculous with Maurice all day. I'd be like, "When we go inside this room, we're going to see a fox made of jelly," or something else silly, and he'd look at me like, "You're ridiculous." He can see straight through me. He's a bright kid.

What else (no spoilers!) can you tell us about the episode?

It's a real feel-good episode. It's a great tale. I hope it warms people on Christmas Day and I hope people invest in Madge and the kids. There's a sense of danger and madness in it as well, of course!

DON'T MISS NEXT ISSUE!

We interview Maurice and Holly, who star in The Doctor, The Widow and The Wardrobe!

MEANWHILE, INSIDE THE TARDIS...
The TARDIS doesn't sound happy with this, Doctor!
I'm afraid she'll have to put up with it. We've got to break into this time bubble!
What's inside this bubble that's so important, anyway?
Him. Aha – looks like we're breaking through. Hold on...
VWORP VWORP

Hello! I'm the Doctor, this is Amy and Rory. What's your name?
I'm Gabriel. What are you doing in my house?
We're doing a customer satisfaction survey on behalf of Father Christmas. How long have you been awake?
Over an hour. Feels longer though. Much, much longer...
This is your main present, isn't it? I expect you're hoping it's the thing you want most of all.
Oh yeah. I can't wait to open it.
Something's stretching time inside this room. He thinks he's been waiting here an hour. It's actually been weeks!
What's the kid doing inside a time bubble?
Don't wait then. Open it now!

RRRRUMT
What is it?
It's a Stromini!
A what?
This isn't what I thought I was getting!
No. Now, quickly – I'm keeping the ink between you and the creature open, but I can't hold it forever.

Don't be afraid. It won't hurt you. Just think about how it's not what you wanted. Disappointing, isn't it?
Yeah, it is.
Doctor – what's happening? It's changed colour, and it looks a bit... well, blah.
Well done, Gabriel! The Stromini hid inside your present and stretched time so that it could feed off your anticipation.
Your anticipation made it strong. I'm afraid I lied – it would have hurt us. I just needed you to concentrate on your disappointment.
I kept the link between you open, and your disappointment made its strength drain away. Amy, Rory – help me get it into the TARDIS.
SOON THE STROMINI IS SAFELY INSIDE THE TARDIS.
You did splendidly, Gabriel. I don't know what happened to your real present, but what would you say to a replacement?
Oh, yeah! Thanks!
But wait until your mum and dad get up before you open it. A merry Christmas to all of you!

DOCTOR WHO SECRETS CHRISTMAS COMES EARLY!

HOW THE DOCTOR WHO CREW FILM CHRISTMAS LONG BEFORE IT HAPPENS!

This snowy forest is a vital part of this year's Christmas episode, The Doctor, The Widow and The Wardrobe. But to get it ready in time for Christmas Day, filming has to begin much earlier!

NOT AS COLD AS IT LOOKS!

SPRAY IT HIGH...

That means taking a lovely green forest and spraying it with fake snow to create the wintry effect! Don't worry, though – it's just a watery foam that doesn't hurt the trees!

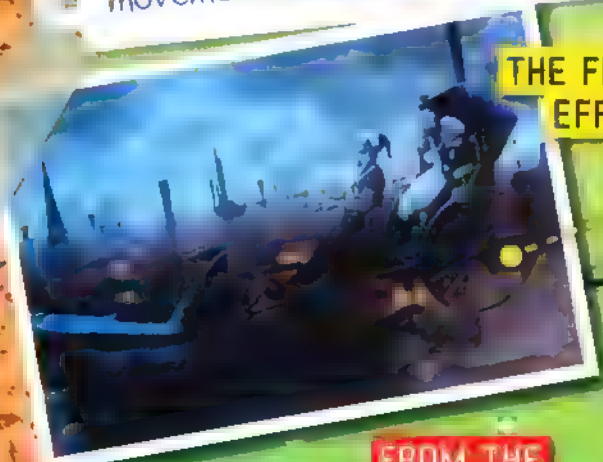
... AND SPRAY IT LOW!

PHEW!

Check out these pictures from the 2006 Christmas episode, The Runaway Bride! Because it's summer, the crew are wearing shorts and sunglasses, but the poor old actors have to dress like it's winter. It must be boiling in those Santa suits!

ROASTING ROBOFORMS!

No wonder the crew sometimes decide it's easier just to create Christmas inside! The Doctor's shark-drawn rickshaw ride from last year's A Christmas Carol actually took place in this green-screen studio, with a crew member on hand to provide the movement from side to side!



THE FINISHED EFFECT

ROCKING THE RICKSHAW!

FROM THE SCRIPT

10.32.21 EXT. THE SKY - NIGHT: PAST 2

FX: Sardicktown by night, from above, as we plunge down. The cluster of buildings, the big dome of Kazran's house, rising out of the fog. Then racing past us - the rickshaw towed by the harnessed shark!

DOCTOR, DOCTOR!

DO YOU HAVE A PROBLEM THAT NEEDS SOLVING? THEN ASK THE DOCTOR!

PUDDING PAIN

Dear Doctor,
When I look out of my window at night I keep seeing a red (I think) four-armed thing running across the pavement. Could you check it out for me?
Alf Tagliaferro

THE DOCTOR REPLIES:
I don't want to worry anyone, but that sounds like your actual, original Zantakk. Lowz: Not the nice, big chap with the beard and a knack for shimmying down chimneys – I know him. He's lovely. I'm talking about the first, worst Beast of Yuletide. All teeth, bad breath and bottom smells. Don't let it near the Christmas pud, or things could get bad. Very, very bad. But, as I say, don't want to worry anyone. Could just be a fox!

IN THE PICTURE

DEAR DOCTOR,
I've got a picture of the Silence next to my bed, and every time I wake up I forget what I was going to do. Help!
Katie Hills

THE DOCTOR REPLIES:
That won't be much fun on Christmas Day, will it? Everyone else will be busy with presents, mince pies and the Queen, and you'll be lying in bed wondering what all the fuss is about. Do yourself a favour and chuck a tea cosy over it before you go to sleep. Or, better still, get rid of that boring old Silence picture and replace it with something much more Christmassy. Like a lovely photo of me!

PENCIL CASE

Dear Doctor,
The other day my pencil bit my finger. I think that's a bit weird, don't you? What should I do?
Morgan McGuigan

THE DOCTOR REPLIES:
The pen might be mightier than the sword, but the pencil is way bitier than either. And they can get really uppity at this time of year – all those lists they have to write. I'd be happy to help, but my sonic – well, the less said about it the better. Still on wood setting. Beyond embarrassing. Anyway, if your pencil is a bit bitey, try using a wax crayon instead. Or some chalk. Or telepathy. Always fun.

NEW!

EYE, EYE!

KOVARIAN TELLS IT LIKE IT IS!

DEAR MADAME KOVARIAN,
Why do you wear nasty black lipstick?
Frankie Pugh

MADAME K REPLIES:
Anyone with an ounce of style would immediately recognise that the colour is not "nasty black", you rude young man, but Jungle Red. If you were half as smart as my lipstick, you'd know it's the perfect war paint when hunting pestilential aliens who have interfered in human affairs for far too long.

11AM-2PM

[illegible] do themselves, so everyone pitches in to help finish preparing Christmas dinner. I am already regretting buying Zola the Voice Scarifier. Hopefully the batteries won't last very long.

2-3PM

BURP!

By the time lunch has been devoured, my usually trim figure has grown a rather peculiar bump.

3-7PM

[illegible] the Doctor's about. [illegible] been [illegible] ready. The stress of it all gives me indigestion, so I take a little nap.

7-8PM

There is just nothing on TV. [illegible] fuss.

Oi! I'm on the telly then!

8-11PM

Phew. Peace at last – the little Silents are finally tucked up in bed. They just wouldn't be quiet until the question was answered! Every year they always ask: "Father Christmas Who?"
